Quarter 2, Wk. 3 - Module 1
Arts and Crafts of MIMAROPA

Name of Learner: ___________________________
Grade & Section: ___________________________
Name of School: ___________________________
In this module, you will be learning the representative folk arts and crafts from Mindoro, Marinduque, Romblon, and Palawan (MIMAROPA). You will be familiar with the different motifs from the different places in MIMAROPA that will be helpful in appreciating the diversity of our culture.

The arts and crafts of MIMAROPA are a combination of designs from indigenous people that resides in the regions and the colorful and rich influence from the Spanish conqueror. Most of their crafts are made of materials that are abundant in their areas. Their designs are derived from their surroundings and represent their community. Some are used for religious activities while some have utilitarian functions and even became large industry for them.

Up to the present, the skills in weaving, pottery-making and sculpting have been an important part of their community. These are passed on from generation to generation. Even with the influence of modern technology, traces of their indigenous traditions and designs are still visible in their arts and crafts today.

At the end of this module, you are expected to:

a) identify characteristics of arts and crafts in specific areas in MIMAROPA and the Visayas, Marinduque (Moriones masks), Palawan (Manunggul Jar), Mindoro (Hanunuo Mangyan writing, basketry, and weaving), Bohol (churches), Cebu (furniture), Iloilo (culinary arts and old houses), Samar (Basey mats), etc. A7EL-IIa-2;

b) draw and design own morion applying the elements of arts and principles of design; and

c) appreciate the artifacts and art objects in terms of its utilization and its distinct use of art elements and principles A7PL-IIh-2

Activity 1: Let’s Match!

Identify the different art forms in MIMAROPA by arranging the jumbled letters and matching its meaning and to its respective place of origin using an arrow.
Activity 2- Recognize Me

Instructions: Classify the different arts and crafts of Luzon (Highlands and lowlands) according to its respective place of origin. Write your answers on the chart shown in the next page.

WHAT’S NEW

MIMAROPA is called the Southern Tagalog Region of the Philippines. It is designated as Region IV-B. The term MIMAROPA is a combination of the names of its constituent provinces Mindoro, Marinduque, Romblon, and Palawan. MIMAROPA’s arts and crafts depict the different aspects of their culture.

Activity 3: Artist’s Eye!

Describe the elements of arts and principles of design used in the designs of the different art forms of MIMAROPA.

MINDORO

There are seven native groups living in Mindoro. Collectively, they call themselves Mangyans. These groups are different from each other based on their language, customs and ways of living. The groups living in the Southern part of Mindoro are called Hanunuo-Mangyan which means “true/real/genuine” Mangyan while another group is called Iraya-Mangyan.

The art of Mangyans displays their rich, artistic heritage. One of their art forms is the ambahan, a rhythmic, poetic expression with a meter of seven syllables. This is presented through recitation and chanting without a determined musical pitch or accompaniment. It is purpose is to express in a symbolic way a situation or certain characteristics by the one reciting the poem.

A variation of this is the urukay, which uses eight syllables instead of seven. It is frequently written on bamboo tubes or slats.

The Iraya-Mangyans of Mindoro are fond of making baskets with intricate patterns and designs of humans, animals, trees and other objects. It is made of dried nito grass and forest vines, meticulously and patiently woven to create these very unique baskets.

MARINDUQUE

The Moriones Festival in Marinduque is a much-awaited Lenten tradition that is celebrated every Holy Week. “Morion” means masks that are made from wood or papier-mâché, adorned with colorful shells, crepe papers. People who act as Roman soldiers during the festival wear these masks together with vest, capes, and wooden shields.

Weaving is a skill that has been passed on through the years by the people of Marinduque. Because of the abundance of the buli (buri palm) and raffia that grow in their areas, these leaves become staple materials in the weaving of the Marinduqueños.

ROMBLON

Romblon is known not only for its fine marble products but also for the beautifully woven mats and bags out of romblon plants.

PALAWAN

Palawan, known as the country’s last frontier, is rich in cultural and natural diversity. It is said that the first inhabitants of Palawan are the Tagbanuas. They have their own writing system that they use to communicate with each other. Like the Hanunuo and Buhid Mangyans, they use their writing system to write their own history.

The men of Palawan are skillful wood carvers while children and women are proficient weavers.

Tingkop is a cone-shaped colander harvest basket made of blackened and natural bamboo. It displays their craftsmanship in weaving. The extremely subtle changing of the under-over pattern of the bamboo strips makes the design stand out.

Tagbanua carvers are well known for their black wood sculptures of animals with simple etched or incised features exposing the original white grain of wood. These are used in rituals or as toys for children.

One of the most important ancient artifacts from the Philippines is the Manunggul jar (890-710 BCE). It was excavated in the early 1960’s inside the Manuggul Cave, Lipuun Point Palawan. The vessel is a secondary burial jar that served as a container for the exhumed remains of the deceased. The upper portion of the jar, as well as the cover, is incised with curvilinear scroll designs and painted with natural iron or hematite. On top of the jar cover is a boat with two human figures representing two souls on a voyage to the afterlife.

WHAT CAN I DO

Activity 5: Make Me A Morion!

Materials:
- Short bond paper
- Pencil, marker, eraser
- Coloring materials
- Colored paper

Procedure:
1. Observe the colors and design of the morion on pages 3, 4 and 5.
2. Draw your own morion (mask). You may design it using other materials for the tassel.
3. Make it more festive using coloring materials.

Region IX: Zamboanga Peninsula Hymn – Our Eden Land

Here the trees and flowers bloom
Here the breezes gently blow
Here the liberty forever stays
Region IX our Eden Land

Oh! That's Region IX

Farewell to thee, too, sweet friend that lightened my way;
Farewell to you all, from my soul torn away,
Friends of my childhood in the home dispossessed!
Give thanks that I rest from the wearisome day!
Farewell to thee, too, sweet friend that lightened my way;
Beloved creatures all, farewell! In death there is rest!

I am a Filipino, child of the marriage of the East and the West. The East, with its languor and mysticism, its passivity and endurance, was my mother, and my sire was the West that came thundering across the seas with the Cross and Sword and the Machine. I am of the East, an eager participant in its spirit, and in its struggles for liberation from the imperialist yoke. But I also know that the East must awake from its centuried sleep, shake off the lethargy that has bound his limbs, and start moving where destiny awaits.

I am a Filipino, and this is my inheritance. What pledge shall I give that I may prove worthy of my inheritance? I shall give the pledge that has come ringing down the corridors of the centuries, and it shall be compounded of the joyous cries of my Malayan forebears when first they saw the contours of this land loom before their eyes, of the battle cries that have resounded in every field of combat from Mactan to Tirad Pass, of the voices of my people when they sing: of new land that was to be their home and their children's forever.

I am a Filipino, by Carlos P. Romulo

My Final Farewell

Let the sun draw the vapors up to the sky,
And heavenward in purity bear my tardy protest
Let some kind soul o'er my untimely fate sigh,
And in the still evening a prayer be lifted on high
From thee, 0 my country, that in God I may rest.

Pray for all those that hapless have died,
For all who have suffered the unmeasur'd pain;
For our mothers that bitterly their woes have cried,
For widows and orphans, for captives by torture tried
And then for thyself that redemption thou mayst gain.

And when the dark night wraps the graveyard around
With only the dead in their vigil to see
Break not my repose or the mystery profound
And perchance thou mayst hear a sad hymn resound
'T is I, 0 my country, raising a song unto thee.

And even my grave is remembered no more
Unmark'd by never a cross nor a stone
Let the plow sweep through it, the spade turn it o'er
That my ashes may carpet earthy floor,
Before into nothingness at last they are blown.

Then will oblivion bring to me no care
As over thy vales and plains I sweep;
Throbbing and cleansed in thy space and air
With color and light, with song and lament I fare,
Ever repeating the faith that I keep.

My Fatherland ador'd, that sadness to my sorrow lends
Beloved Filipinas, hear now my last good-by!
I give thee all: parents and kindred and friends
For I go where no slave before the oppressor bends,
Where faith can never kill, and God reigns e'er on high!

Farewell to you all, from my soul torn away,
Friends of my childhood in the home dispossessed!
Give thanks that I rest from the wearisome day!
Farewell to thee, too, sweet friend that lightened my way;
Beloved creatures all, farewell! In death there is rest!

I am a Filipino

I am a Filipino—inheritor of a glorious past, hostage to the uncertain future. As such I must prove equal to a two-fold task—the task of meeting my responsibility to the past, and the task of performing my obligation to the future.

I sprang from a hardy race, child many generations removed of ancient Malayan pioneers. Across the centuries the memory comes rushing back to me: of brown-skinned men putting out to sea in ships that were as frail as their hearts were stout. Over the sea I see them come, borne upon the billowing wave and the whistling wind, carried upon the mighty swell of hope—hope in the free abundance of new land that was to be their home and their children’s forever.

I am a Filipino. I am a Filipino, by Carlos P. Romulo

The seed I bear within me is an immortal seed. It is the mark of my manhood, the symbol of dignity as a human being. Like the seeds that were once buried in the tomb of Tutankhamen many thousand years ago, it shall grow and flower and bear fruit again. It is the insignia of my race, and my generation is but a stage in the unending search of my people for freedom and happiness.

I am a Filipino

Here the liberty forever stays
Region IX our Eden Land

Oh! That's Region IX

Farewell, dear Fatherland, clime of the sun caress’d
Pearl of the Orient seas, our Eden lost!
Gladdly now I go to give thee this faded life’s best,
And were it brighter, fresher, or more blest
Still would I give it thee, nor count the cost.

On the field of battle, ’mid the frenzy of fight,
Others have given their lives, without doubt or heed;
The place matters not-cypress or laurel or lily white,
Scaffold or open plain, combat or martyrdom’s plight,
’T is ever the same, to serve our home and country’s need.

I die just when I see the dawn break,
Through the gloom of night, to herald the day;
And if color is lacking my blood shalt take,
Pour’d out at need for thy dear sake
To dye with its crimson the waking ray.

My dreams, when life first opened to me,
My dreams, when the hopes of youth beat high,
Were to see thy lov’d face, 0 gem of the Orient sea
From gloom and grief, from care and sorrow free;
No blush on thy brow, no tear in thine eye.

Dream of my life, my living and burning desire,
All hail! I cry the soul that is now to take flight;
Let the wind with sad lament over me keen;
Let the moon beam over me soft and serene,
While I may feel on my brow in the cold tomb below
Draw it to thy lips and kiss my soul so,
In the grassy sod, a humble flower,
If over my grave some day thou seest grow,
And sleep in thy bosom eternity’s long night.

To die for thy sake, that thou mayst aspire;
All hail! cries the soul that is now to take flight;
For I go where no slave before the oppressor bends,
That flowered down the centuries in deeds of courage and defiance.
In my veins yet pulses the same hot blood that sent Lapulapu to
That flowered down the centuries in deeds of courage and defiance.
In my veins yet pulses the same hot blood that sent Lapulapu to
